

{Community Investment Tax Credit Program}

Investing in Community

The Community Investment Tax Credit (CITC) Program has been a vital tool for the CDP in leveraging increased investment from our community. Ninety-five donors, from each of the eight towns of the Lower Cape and beyond, contributed $232,525 to the CDP through the CITC Program in 2016. These gifts support an array of programming—creating more affordable housing and stronger local businesses, and protecting our valuable natural environment—in all, helping our Lower Cape community thrive.

The CITC Program works by enabling taxpayers who make donations of at least $1,000 to access a 50% tax credit from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Our CITC donors range from individuals to businesses, non-profit organizations and foundations with gifts ranging from $1,000–$30,000. Their common goal—preserving the character and sustaining the future of this special place we call home. You can learn more about the program on our website: www.capecdp.org/support-us/community-investment-tax-credit.

“I have never come across a situation where your dollar goes further than with the Community Investment Tax Credit. It’s a great way to leverage donation money in a way that both benefits the organization and lowers our tax burden. We often make contributions to great organizations without any expectation of a return, but because of the added benefit it became compelling to increase our giving.”
